

SAKAKIBARA ANIMAL HOSPITAL

Our clinic is a small laid-back veterinary hospital established in 1985 and located a few steps off East Avenue in Kenkyugakuen City.

We are committed to helping all creatures live happy and healthy lives.

We treat dogs, cats, rabbits, hamsters, birds, turtles, and other small animals including rare and exotic species.

We support our animals from the moment they arrive into our family as well as help you to ensure their welfare as they are adopted into your family.

We advise on how to foster the best relationship between human and animal, whether the animal is healthy, sick, elderly, or troubled with other problems.

We are qualified veterinarians with a broad experience in comprehensive animal care.

Clinic Hours

9:00-12:00 AM / 3:00-6:00 PM

Closed: Thursday, Sunday

Notice of Year-end and New Year holidays

The clinic will be closed from December 28 to January 5 for the year-end and New Year holidays. Thank you for your understanding.

Introducing our Veterinarians:

Mayu Sakakibara

I was born and raised in Tsukuba, Japan.

My parents were also veterinarians, so I grew up surrounded by animals from a young age and enjoyed spending time with them. Even now I bring two dogs and a cat to work with me at the hospital.

At veterinary college, I studied "Relationships between people and animals.

I would love to talk to you about animal ownership, general concerns, diseases and prevention, what you can and cannot do, challenges, fun, training, and so on.

I support both animals and people for a free and comfortable life..

My hobby is oil painting.

Keiko Sakakibara

I have lived in Tsukuba for more than 30 years.

When my children were young, we raised various creatures such as crawfish, stag beetles, rabbits, raccoons, ducks, goats, turtles, and momongas. We also kept dogs and cats named Sailor, Charlie, Bebe, Mac, Lucy, Annie, Pokke, Marimo, Ari-chan, and Guri-chan.

Even now, I continue to live with animals.

I hope that people and animals can live together comfortably and peacefully.
